To Be 106 Years Old March 24

Mrs. Grinstead In County For Over 100 Years

Extending her hand, and with a firm handclasp and a smile, Mrs. Miranda Elizabeth Grinstead, who will be 106 years old Friday, March 24, welcomed a reporter and photcgrapher at the home of her son, Pam Grinstead, at Longwood, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Grinstead was sitting in a rocking chair with a small apron over her dress and a little black shawl around her shoulders.

"Go ahead," she said to the photographer, "and take my picture. They wanted to fix my hair before you took a picture, but I told them I'd rather you'd take me just as it is."

Reaching for a bouquet of flowers that had been sent to her by her great niece, Mrs. Corrine Harrison, of Sedalia, the aged woman smiled happily and said, "Aren't they pretty," and she arranged them so that they would be in the picture.

It seemed almost unbelievable that the little woman sitting there so interested in everything, although physically weak, was 106 years old. She asked questions of the visitors, insisted that they be comfortably seated while there, and when she failed to hear part of a conversation asked that it be repeated because she wanted to understand it correctly.

Wonders On Eternity

"What do I think of, sitting here all day?" asked Mrs. Grinstead replying to a question asked. "I wonder a great deal — I wonder about eternity and how it is going to be over on the other side. Not that I'm afraid. I'm not. I'm ready to go when God calls me and I'm sure its going to be all right because God has promised it will be.

"I've lived a long life," she said. "I had a good husband, a good home, good children, and plenty of fun — at least as much as I needed. I reared eleven children and one little colored boy, and I tried to live a good Christian life.

"I never danced," she said, "not that I object to dancing because I don't, but I joined the church early in life, the church did not favor dancing and I just never entered any of those kind of frolics. It was not done then and I didn't do it.

"I eat well, have a good appetite," she said, "sleep well, can see without my glasses, but I'm so weak. Just the little conversation I've had now tires me out."

Turing to a grand niece, who was in the room, Mrs. Leola Truitt of Sedalia, Mrs. Grinstead said: "Honey, you don't want to live as long as I have. I'm just a care to those around me. I'm ready for the day."

Concern On Children

One anxiety Mrs. Grinstead has had lately is that some of her nine living children will die before she does, and she wants them all to attend her funeral. Recently her 84 year old daughter, Mrs. E. Hall of Tulsa, Okla., had a slight illness, and it caused her mother great concern.

Mrs. Grinstead was born in Kentucky and came to Missouri with her parents when she was five years old. Her father bought 1,100 acres of land at Georgetown for $1.25 an acre. He had many slaves and the children were reared to be waited on, there was little work for them to do.

Mrs. Grinstead's husband, William Grinstead, died in 1900. Her living children are: Mrs. E. Hall, Tulsa, Okla., Mrs. Willis Taylor, Longwood, Mrs. David Taylor, Wichita, Kan., Mrs. Bessie Bounds of Sherman, Texas, Mrs. Walter Gillespie, Sedalia, Pam Grinstead, Longwood, H. F. Grinstead, Columbia and J. E. Grinstead, Kerrville, Texas. Two children lived to be grown are deceased; Mrs. Tom Houston, who lived in Exeter, Calif., and Priest Grinstead of Noble, Ark. Two children died in infancy.

Because Mrs. Grinstead is very weak there will be no birthday celebration next week. Several of her children may be with her for the day, but there will be no large gathering of relatives and friends as has been the custom for several years.

Social Session For B. And P. W. Club

The Business and Professional Women's club will have a social session at the home of Mrs. Fred Kueck, 1406 West Fourth street, beginning at 7 o'clock Thursday night.

It will be in the nature of a "rag tag" party, and an award will be given to the one wearing the most appropriate costume.

Hostesses on this occasion will be Miss Anna Marie Morseman, Mrs. Louise Orear, Miss Sarah Yarnell, Mrs. Ray Logan, Miss Rosebud Cundiff and Mrs. Kueck.

106 Years Of Age March 24

Mrs. Miranda Elizabeth Grinstead, widow of the late William Grinstead, converses with reporter at the home of her son, Pam Grinstead, near Longwood, and is looking forward to her birthday celebration next week.

Hawes Changes Attitude On Philippines

Suggestions On Trade Relations Are Offered

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP) Former Senator Harry B. Hawes (D-Mo) endorsed before the senate territories committee today amendments to the Philippine independence act which would prolong preferential trade relations until 1961.

He suggested a provision originally contained in the independence act be restored to provide for a trade conference in 1945 to formulate recommendations on future trade relations between the two countries.

Hawes said an original provision for a plebiscite in the islands on the independence issue also should be restored.

Hawes took issue with a statement by Chairman Tydings (D-MD) that the Philippines had cost the United States $700,000,000 to date. He said expenditures for "direct American interests" in the isulans "do not exceed $200,000 a year."

Army and Navy posts in the islands were not for protecting "the Philippines as Philippines," he said. "They were and are in the islands to protect American interests in the entire Orient."

Hawes said "international changes" had occurred since adoption of the present independence act for the Philippines, and Japan had "violated solemn treaties with the United States and other nations. The Japanese flag is entwined in her playhouses, on the one side with the German flag, and on the other side with the Italian flag.

"These acts were not anticipated when the American independence offers were made," Hawes said, and "armed invasion of the Philippines or industrial domination by Japan would mean the end of the Democratic Philippine nation we have assisted in establishing.

"That," he declared, "would be the most tragic thing that could happen to a Christian nation."

Census Inquirers To Pry Into Personal Affairs

By W. B. RAGSDALE

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—The census bureau is laying the basis for the broadest inquiry into personal affairs the nation ever has undertaken.

In its preparing, with the aid of private and governmental experts, the questions that will be asked in every home next year in the decennial census.

Out of the answers will come the information on which federal and state governments will base their laws and administrative actions for the next ten years and on which the seats in congress will be reallocated among the states.

Those are the purposes of every census. The by-products from the next census promise, however, to be fully as useful.

In addition to the problems of population, the questions will delve into employment and economic subjects, particularly into incomes of workers, how much they pay for rents, and how they are housed.

Since the 1930 census, economic upsets have not only knocked askew ordinary population movements but they have produced new problems of equal importance.

Inquiries Extensive

They have set economists to inquiring about the low income group that is said to form a third of the population. How much money does it make? How does

Says Changes In Act Needed

Green Anxious For Hearings On The Labor Law

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor said today that amendments to the Wagner labor act are necessary regardless of the outcome of peace negotiations between the AFL and the CIO.

Just before a meeting of the senate labor committee, Green asked that hearings on amendments proposed by the AFL be started "at the earliest possible moment."

The committee originally ordered hearings March 10, but postponed them to await the outcome of the peace negotiations.

Green wrote committee members that the AFL amendments, introduced by Senator Walsh (D-Mass), had been proposed "in good faith."

"We are certainly entitled to a hearing," Green added.

"It is inconceivable that the senate committee . . . would deny the American Federation of Labor hearing on amendments . . . merely because of the opposition of the representatives of the congress of industrial organizations."

The CIO is opposed to the proposals, which would effect fundamental changes in the Wagner act. Discretionary powers of the labor relations board generally would be curtailed, employers would be permitted to petition for elections to ascertain what employe agency they should recognize, and the right to appeal the labor board's decisions to the courts would be broadened.

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the labor committee has said that a battle between the AFL and the CIO over changes in the labor law might hinder the peace negotiations.

Senator Burke (D-Neb), author of another set of proposed amendments to the labor law, told reporters he thought hearings should be started not later than April 1.

"People from all sections of the country are desirious to appear and testify regarding needed changes," Burke said. "Although I approved Senator Thomas' original decision to delay the hearings, I do not think they would interfere with the peace negotiations if they were started by the first of April.

"If hearings are not started by that date, it would be clear evidence that the peace negotiations are being used as an excuse to postpone action, and I don't think anyone wants to give that appearance."

Message By President On Relief

Situation Is "Serious-Need Is Great"

WASHINGTON, March 14—(AP)—President Roosevelt, describing the relief situation as "very serious," told the lawmaking branch today that responsibility for appropriating sufficient money to carry on WPA until July 1 "rests of necessity" on congress.

While not recommending a specific deficiency figure, the president in a special message asserted recent data furnished him substantiated the "real need" of his previous proposal for an additional appropriation of $150,000,000.

This was the amount cut by congress from his original January request for $875,000,000 to run WPA the last five months of the fiscal year, and which he asked to have restored in a message February 7.

In his message today, Mr. Roosevelt said there had been no "substantial change" in conditions of unemployment since then.

"The government of the United States is faced today with a condition and not a theory," the chief executive declared. "The insufficiency of the money appropriated will compel the administrator to discharge about a million and a quarter actual workers in the immediate future.

"I cannot bring myself to believe that these discharged men and women will contribute to the prosperity of the United States, nor do I believe that the merchants and landlords they are now dealing with will become prosperous when their trade ceases.

"Therefore, the responsibility for the situation in which all of these people will find themselves during the coming three months rests of necessity within the decision of the congress of the United States."

The president said it was "wholly within the right of any and all of us to study and work for the greater efficiency of government" and that additional studies were proper. He de-

Independence Voted By The Slovaks; Support By Hitler

Rush Troops To Czech-German Border Today

Report Forty Killed; Hacha To Meet Hitler

Bulletin.

PRAGUE, March 14.—(AP)—The Prague office of the Wittkowitz Iron and Steel Works said its works manager at Moravska-Ostrava had reported by telephone that German troops had marched into that Czech city and occupied it.

The manager said the German troops were now facing Polish troops across the Czech-Polish border.

(Moravska-Ostrava (Maehrisch-Ostrau), 140 miles east of Prague, remained Czech territory after the Munich dismemberment, although the adjacent Teschen area was ceded to Poland. The main works of the famous Wittkowitz is at Moravska-Ostrava.)

LEITMERITZ, German Sudetenland, March 14.—(AP)—Detachments of German artillery and cavalry and searchlight batteries with full field equipment left Leitmeritz at 6 P. M. (11 A. M. CST) today moving in the direction of Liboch, on the Czech-German border.

Liboch, in Germany territory, is just across the Post-Munich frontier from the Czech town of Melink, about 24 miles northeast of Pragaue.

(Both Leitmeritz and Liboch are in the Sudetenland area occupied by Germany early in October as a result of the Munich pact dismembering Czecho-Slovakia.)

Forty Reported Killed.

BRATISLAVA, March 14.—(AP) Forty persons were reported killed today in a battle between Czech troops and Carpatho-Ukrainians at Chust, Carpatho-Ukraine capital.

The reports, which were not confirmed immediately, said a hotel occupied by the German consul had been surrounded by Czech forces and "some concern was felt for the consul's safety."

To Confer With Hitler.

By Louis P. Lochner

BERLIN, March 14.—(AP)—Slovakia's proclamation of independence and a forthcoming conference here between Chancellor Hitler and the Czech president brought a halt today in Germany's measures for "solving" the Czech-Slovak problem—by arms or otherwise.

President Emil Hacha of the dissolved Czecho-Slovak republic was on his way here by special train to confer with Hitler.

Earlier the German government was said by a Wilhelmstrasse spokesman to regard the situation as so "unbearable" that Hit-

Dr. Joseph Tiso Declared As Premier After Separation Of Czecho-Slovak State

Czech President Faces Nazi Wrath

Czecho-Slovakian President Emil Hacha, above, finds himself, like his predecessor, Eduard Benes, object of German anger following suppression of elements demanding separation of autonomous Slovakia from Prague government. He is to confer with Hitler after dismemberment of the Czecho-Slovak state.

Ultimatum To Prague For Evacuation

PRAGUE, March 14.—(AP)—The Prague government announced at 3 P. M. (8 A. M. CST) today the formal dissolution of the federal Czecho-Slovak State, from which Slovakia already had declared its independence.

Thus the republic, envisioned during the World war by President Woodrow Wilson and created at the Versailles peace conference ,ended its existence.

It collapsed after nearly six months of disintegration which followed the Sept. 29 accord of Munich, where the nation was dismembered to keep Europe from a general war.

The government's announcement was the first official notice the Czech people had of the new situation, although the Czech-Slovak cabinet earlier had resigned.

Slovakia declared its independence today under assurances of protection from Adolf Hitler.

"We worked together twenty years with the Slovaks and certainly not to the detriment of the Slovaks," the government announcement said.

"That is attested to by flourishing cities and towns in Slovakia.

"The State Federation is dissolved.

"This act leaves every Czech without enmity or hate. We wish them (the Slovaks) a happy future.

Call For Discipline

"The new situation also changes matters in Prague. The government will take the necessary steps called for by the new situation."

The announcement ended with a call for "discipline and understanding."

Czecho-Slovakia apparently could not survive the amputations of last October and November, when large parts of a once-thriving republic were taken by Germany, Poland and Hungary.

These were the steps today that led up to the announcement of dissolution:

President Emil Hacha, under pressure from Adolf Hitler, convened the Slovak parliament:

The Slovaks declared themselves an independent state with Dr. Joseph Tiso as the new premier;

The Czecho-Slovak cabinet of

Would Hold Down Ickes' Press Section

Approval From Senate Given Appropriation

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—The house tentatively approved today an amendment to the $160,000,000 interior department appropriations bill to hold down to its present size Secretary Ickes' press section.

On a teller vote, which is subject to reversal before final passage of the bill, the Republican economy bloc forced through an amendment offered by Representative White (R-Ohio) trimming $36,740 from the proposed appropriation of $86,740 for the department's service. The appropriation for the present year was $50,000.

"It looks like the administration is trying to take a page out of the Goebbels gook on propaganda," White said, referring to Germany's chief propagandist.

Simultaneously the senate approved the $1,700,000,000 treasury-postoffice appropriation bill. That measure now goes to a joint senate-house conference committee for the adjustment of differences between the two chambers.

Before the final vote the senate agreed to an amendment depriving federal agencies of free use of the mails for anything except official correspondence and matter specifically requested by citizens or required by law to be distributed.

Economy – Easy To Favor, Hard To Practice

Sometimes it takes an agency outside the government to tell the hard truth about government matters, just as sometimes it is necessary for someone outside the family to tell us the unpalatable truth about ourselves.

The Brookings Institution is an admirable organization, and has given real service to the country by study of many problems from an unprejudiced position which no government agency can quite assume.

Latest is its study of government economy, and the possibilities of really cutting down the federal budget.

The conclusions presented are so sensible, and so apparently true, that it is like a fresh breeze to have someone put them into words.

Briefly, they are that no "cheese-paring" economy wave is going to make so much as a dent in federal expenditures.

Old Washingtonians remember the "Coolidge economy wave" that ran through all the government establishments at one phase of his administration. There was a great flutter of writing on both sides of the paper, and not getting a new pencil until the stub of the old one had been turned in. The net result was a great deal of amused or annoyed comment from government workers, but no saving in the cost of government that was in any sense worth all the hullabaloo.

The Brookings report recognizes the futility of this. "Economy large enough to count in the federal budget can come only from elimination and curtailment of certain types of activities, a step which involves large issues of public policy," it insists.

Does the Department of Agriculture cost too much? Then savings must come, not from making each employee use old report sheets for scratch-paper, but from eliminating entirely whole departments and services as either unnecessary or overlapping other services.

Does the Interior Department cost too much? Then savings must be made by discontinuing whole divisions, say the Division of Forests, or the Office of Education, or the Petroleum Conservation Commission, letting their whole functions go by the boards.

Even the most careful elimination of duplicated effort can not do much to reduce expenses. It should be done, but it will not solve the problem.

The central problem, as the Institution makes clear, "involves large issues of public policies." Only those who are prepared to face reduced service from the federal government can with a clear consistency advocate the pleasant theme of economy.

• So They Say

The steel industry is a focal center of a monopolistic infection which, if not eradicated, may well cause the death of free capitalistic industry.—Federal Trade Commission report to the monopoly committee.

My ancestors date back to the early Dutch settlers—a pretty tough bunch—and I am not afraid of being shocked by the testimony of witnesses.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hulsart, Rye, N. Y., housewife, drawn for jury duty.

No Gold in Rainbows

The editor of the Newhall, California, Signal recently made this significant statement: "A business man told us yesterday that he gave himself just two more years and then he was going to invite the state and government to run his business and to make their own levies out of their own deficits!"

There's as much truth as cynical humor in that. We have had ten years of depression, broken by spasmodic intervals of a little recovery. We have been told over and over by men high in the government that a balanced budget without further increases in taxes would shortly be attained. And we have witnessed government expenses constantly grow, not lessen—and the national debt soar to undreamed of levels.

It is argued that the United States could, if necessary, carry and eventually amortize an eighty or hundred billion dollar debt. Perhaps it could—if the people are willing to lower their standard of living, in order to pay more and more of their earnings and wages to government. Perhaps it could—if business and industry are simply to stagger along on a hand to mouth basis, buying only what is absolutely needed to keep plants running.

We have heard so much of taxation in recent years that many of us have become bored with it. But that's the worst mistake we can make. Your job, your home, your business, your investments, your savings—taxation and fiscal policy vitally affect them all. We've been criminally careless in permitting taxes and debt to rise without question—and we're going to pay the bill.

Government can retrench and cut costs and start toward a balanced budget—if public opinion forces the issue. It's up to us all.

Trend of Sentiment

The House defeat of the proposal to fortify Guam was of considerable importance for the light it casts on the problem of national defense. Administration leaders, for the most part, were strongly back of the proposal, on the principle that we should take the "strong line" in our Pacific defense against a possible assault by Japan. The majority whips in the House did their best to line up enough votes to carry the measure, but they failed by a considerable margin.

Reason for failure is found in the apparently growing opinion that, if we are to keep out of war, we must spend our money principally for the weapons essential to territorial defense. Many experts think that it is tactically impossible to defend either Guam or the Philippines—and that if we attempted to do so, by sending our fleet thousands of miles from the major bases of supplies, we would risk a ruinous defeat. They argue that no power could successfully attack either the Hawaiian Islands—where our Pearl Harbor Naval Base rules the Pacific—or our mainland. This is our logical sphere of power, they reason, and we should look no farther.

Some development may change this plan before long. But the House vote on the Guam fortification bill indicates the general trend of sentiment.

A Western state legislature recently killed a bill increasing gross weight limit of trucks on public highways from 54,000 to 68,000 pounds, and increasing their length from 50 to 60 feet. As one representative said, if we pass such a bill, we might as well "let the trains put rubber tires on their wheels and use the highways."

• The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINTON—Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia stole the show with his hilarious political skit at the annual frolic of the Inner Circle. This organization of New York political writers differs from Washington's Gridiron Club in that public officials stage the satires instead of the newsmen.

The Little Flower opened his act as if he were going to make a speech. "Ladies and gentlemen," he said, but suddenly was interrupted by a commotion in the rear of the hall.

"Mr. Mayor, Mr. Mayor," an usher pelled, "there's a woman out here who insists on seeing you."

With that, the doors burst open and Sophie Turner, famous comedienne, stomped into the hall. Behind her came a 50-piece band. After an affectionate exchange of greetings, LaGuardia asked Sophie, "Where have you been?"

"Downstairs watching a big funny guy walking back and forth and muttering to himself, 'I'm going to send Tom Dewey to the White House, I'm going to send Tom Dewey to the White House.'"

"Did he have a big nose?"

"Yes."

"I thought so! That's George Z. Medalie (U. S. Attorney under Hoover and Dewey's closest adviser). What else was he doing?

"Well, that was strange, too. He kept on swallowing white powders! He dropped some and I brought it with me."

LaGuardia reached for the powder, took one sniff, leaped high into the air and let out a whoop.

"Glory, hallelujah!" he shouted "Folks, I'm going to give you the real inside lowdown. Tom Dewey is not going to the White House. The only way he will get there will be when I appoint him Attorney General in my Cabinet."

"Good Neighbor" Bulls

The Venezuelan government having imported from the U. S. A. a whole Noah's ark full of prize breeding animals, has now come back for more. Their expert in farm animals, Dr. Martin de Moya, is visiting the famous King ranch in Texas, buying several Santa Gertrudis bulls for breeding purposes. Before he sails for home, he will buy 200 bulls of various species.

The first animals sent to Venezuela cost $60,000. It is expected that current purchases will amount to $200,000, and will include hogs, rams, ewes, stallions, jacks, and jennets.

Venezuela is determined to improve its livestock to a dominant position in South America.

RFC Run-Around

Last week The Washington Merry-Go-Round revealed that Reconstruction Finance Corporation had made a $5,600,000 loan to two former New Deal executives, friends of Chairman Jesse Jones, to build an office building for rental by the RFC. The story has brought a flood of mail from small business men all over the country.

Every letter tells the same story—hard boiled refusal by Jones to make capital available that would have meant expansion of small businesses, increased employment, and improvement of general economic conditions. In striking contrast to the open-handed generosity lavished on his two promoter friends, Jones treated the small business men like alien enemies.

Here is one experience related by a responsible firm in the Midwest, which has been in business many years:

In 1938 the firm developed a new product and needed capital to erect a plant for its manufacture. A local bank offered to participate in a loan with the RFC.

RFC examiners made a favorable report. In fact, one of them was so enthusiastic that he offered to buy stock in the adventure. But nothing happened. The company sent several officials to Washington to find out the trouble.

They were told that a new appraisal of the company's property was necessary. The company employed a nationally known firm to do this, and the report sent to the RFC valued its assets at a higher figure than claimed by its executives. Weeks went by, however, with no further action. So again several company officials traveled to Washington.

This time they were informed that a bank's participation was needed. The local bank promptly put up 20 per cent of the desired loan. But again nothing happened.

The money received from the local bank was the only help this company ever got. It never got anything out of Jesse Jones—except more runaround.

Morgenthau's Constitutional

Two hundred pounds is a lot of weight to carry around, and George M. Brennan of the Farm Credit Administration would rather ride than walk. So he was deeply disappointed the other day by the Secretary of the Treasury.

Morgenthau called Brennan on the phone, said he had something to discuss, and suggested they meet next morning at the Shoreham Hotel, on the outskirts of town, and walk downtown together. Concealing his aversion to walking, Brennan agreed.

His hopes rose however, when he met Morgenthau, for the Secretary had brought along not only his favorite Great Dane, "Dano," but also his chauffer and limousine.

But Brennan was not prepared for what followed. Morgenthau greeted him, opened the car door, said, "Get in there, Dano," and signaled the chauffeur to drive away. Then taking Brennan's arm, he started off vigorously on foot.

Running Shoes

Representative Carroll Reece, lean, able member of the monopoly investigating committee, is one of the most distinguished war vetreans in Congress. As an officer in the Twenty-Sixth Division, he won a number of decorations for extraordinary bravery under fire. During the debate in the House on the national defense program, the lanky Tennessean told colleagues this gay A. E. F. story:

After the Division's brilliant offensive at Belleau Wood it was sent to a rest area, where a high-ranking Marine officer appeared to help reorganize it. His first act was to order an inspection of of the troops. In the course of his inspection he noticed that a number of the doughboys wore Marine shoes. Stopping before one of them he demanded brusquely, "What's the idea of wearing Marine shoes; where did you get them?"

"In Belleau Woods, the soldier shot back, "you know, where the Marines retreated."

"Sergeant," roared the Marine officer, "send that man to the guardhouse. Lock him up, lock him up."

Fellowship of Prayer

Asking to be Weighed

Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may know mine integrity. Read Job 31:6; 16-22.

Job was a "perfect and upright man" or else there would have been no drama of Job. He is not therefore afraid of the scales of God. On the contrary he welcomes them. This 31st chapter is fascinteing for an imagery which makes poetry of ethics and its realistic catalogue of the moral standards of Job's world. By such tests badness and goodness do not seem to have greatly changed their natures in the last thirty centuries.

Respect for the sanctity of the home, consideration for those who work for and with us; sensitiveness to human need; right ways of working with fields; wrong love of money; truckling to the crowd; how modern it all is directly we turn Job's poetry into our prose. These are the weights against which Job asked to be weighed. We would be wise to weigh ourselves and our society in such scales.

Prayer: Lord of the Just Balance, give us courage enough to submit our individual and social ways to the verdict of Thy balances. Teach us anew how every daily deed and common task has set over against them Thy weights and measures, not in some distant order but in all our ways. And, if the reading humbles us, grant that it may also correct us and through Thy mercy enable us to do better. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Stray Cow Wrecks Train; 12 Die, 30 Injured

CATEAUROUX, France, March 14.—(AP)—A stray cow wrecked the Paris-Toulouse Express and a freight train last night, causing the death of at least 12 persons and injuring 30.

The cow jumped from a cattle car which was being switched to a siding to allow the Express to pass. The freight train struck the cow, derailing two cars which fell onto the main line just as the fast train approached.

WOMEN WANT BEAUTY!

BY LOUISE HOLMES

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: Susie sees Jeff again only to be invited by Dick to return to Rivertown with him. She puzzles about this trip. Finally, she decides on her course.

CHAPTER XXVI

SUSIE decided to take a chance. In Rivertown she might pass unnoticed or, if discovered, acclaimed for her amazing prowess. If she treated the matter casually Dick would naturally see it in the same light. He had liked her in the old days, he had been sorry for her. That might prove the perfect background for his present love. At any rate she would chance it, trusting to her wits to pull her through any awkward situations.

Dick inadvertently made her plan feasible at dinner that night. He was talking of the intended jaunt.

"It'll be fun to get back to the campus again," he said. "See everyone I used to know. My class is gone, of course, but I know plenty of fellows and girls."

"Lots of fun," she agreed nervously.

"Were you ever at Rivertown, Suzanne?" he asked.

"Oh, yes. I learned to sing at the university."

He looked at her speculatively. "Funny that I never saw you there."

"I worked my way through. Went to night and summer classes."

"What about your family? Couldn't they help you?" He appeared to think nothing of her having been a toiler. It was encouraging.

"My father is a farmer up state. He had plenty before the depression, but—." She shrugged expressively. "I want you to meet my father. He's one of the best."

"I'd like to meet him." He smiled at her. "Judging from his daughter he must be rather wonderful."

"I think so," she finished demurely. Dick wouldn't care for Martha, but he couldn't help liking her forthright, ruddy father. Dan Lambert was smart, he'd been a power before the depression.

"LET'S start early tomorrow," Dick was saying. "I want to barge into the Waffle Shoppe about four. Remember it?"

Did she remember the Waffle Shoppe? "Yes," she said, "I remember it." Should she tell him? Now was the time if ever.

"There's a girl who makes waffles, I guess you'd call her a woman," Dick went on thoughtfully. "She's huge and terrible looking, but her waffles are something to write home about. Do you remember her?"

"Yes." She must tell him. If, and when, he learned the truth he would have a right to think that she had been deceitful. She opened her lips to speak.

"Her name is Susie," Dick ruminated, a half smile on his lips. "She certainly had a crush on yours truly. I did her a nasty trick once, was always ashamed of myself. Used to drop in every afternoon at four so she'd know I liked her." Throwing back his head he laughed. "She used to get positively purple, waiting on me."

Susie could feel the old inferiority returning to her. Color flooded her face and she felt sure it must be of a purplish hue. Fumbling in her purse she brought out the silver compact which had been a favor at that party long ago when Dick had let her down.

"Dick," she began, her tongue paralyzed with dread, "did you ever see this before?"

He examined the compact. "Sure—hundreds of them. Not being very original we used them for party favors year on end. Where'd you get it?"

Susie swallowed painfully. "Dick—."

At that moment he jumped to his feet as Hester, his sister, and a group of friends bore down upon them.

There was an exchange of conversation, Hester a bit snooty, obviously disapproving the tete-a-tete dinner.

DICK urged them to attend Suzanne's broadcast and they accepted. Susie was not alone with Dick again until he took her home. When she left him at the elevator, promising to be ready at 10 in the morning, the confession had not been made. Guiltily, with apprehension growing momentarily, Susie went to bed. The trip to Rivertown now appeared in the light of a calamity, the setting for her downfall.

The next morning, carrying a small, fitted case, she almost bumped into Jeff as she stepped from the elevator. With a joyous greeting he caught her hand and pulled her out of the confused throng milling about the lobby. Never had Susie seen Jeff so alive, so exuberant. His eyes danced, his face was one big smile, he was slightly out of breath. In his hand he carried a telegram.

"Susie," he exploded. "I've got the swellest news. Broke all traffic regulations getting here to tell you."

His excitement communicated itself to her. "What is it?" she begged. "Tell me."

He held out the telegram. "Look," he said.

But Susie didn't look. Dick had swung in through the revolving doors and she stood on tiptoe to wave at him.

"H'ya, beautiful," he shouted rushing up to them. "Hello, Jeff, what's the good word?"

Taking Susie's bag, ignoring Jeff after the salutation, Dick urged her toward the door. Jeff, the joy draining from his face, pushed back his hat and watched them go. Susie said, "'Bye," over her shoulder and he stared blankly after her. When they had disappeared Jeff looked dazedly at the telegram.

SUSIE, sitting close to Dick in the snug warmness of his car, did not think of Jeff again until they were skimming along the highway north of Chicago. When she did think of him it was with a decided pang of regret.

"Oh, Dick," she said, "I was dreadfully rude to Jeff."

"Is that so?" he returned banteringly. "Well, be nice to me and that'll make up for it."

"He wanted to tell me something," she mused. "I—I shouldn't have treated him like that. Wonder if I could call him from a filling station or somewhere?"

"Not on your life," Dick objected strenuously. "When I step out with a gal she doesn't spend her time calling other guys."

Susie laughed. Dick was different this morning, on tiptoe with eagerness, possessively attentive. Susie couldn't know that he had made a stand at breakfast that morning, that he'd advised his family to attend to their own affairs and he would look after his—and Suzanne's.

"But she's a nobody, Dick," his mother had wailed.

"More power to her," Dick had returned airily. "Lots of the stars in Hollywood were dowdy little nobodies until someone took them in hand. Suzanne is a sensation over the air, she has a big future, Hollywood will eat her up." Dick had expanded, thinking of his own part in Suzanne's success. Architecture was all right, but it didn't land you in Hollywood's inner circle.

"You're not serious about this girl," his mother gasped.

Dick pushed back his chair. "You bet I am. Tomorrow night I shall bring her straight here and I want you to be decent to her. You, too, Hester," he added, with an emphatic nod at his sister.

"Thank goodness you're taking her to California," was all Hester said.

So that was that and Dick waited only for the romantic moment when Suzanne would melt into his arms. If Susie's offer from the coast had been the deciding factor—well, a man couldn't very well get along without money.

"Since the flu twenty years ago I had been searching for a medicine like KruGon," said Mr. Belt, "I was badly constipated and it had gradually gotten the best of me. I had that weakened, tired and worn-out feeling. I noticed it was actually an effort for me to get around the way I wanted.

I began to have back pains and such distressing disturbances at night which made my rest almost impossible at times. I always had to be careful of what I ate but even then I was sure to suffer after eating. Gas would form in abundance and I would bloat terribly at times. My health condition bothered me in my work during the day and I was getting to the place where all I could see before me was suffering. But that was before I began KruGon's use for it did so much for me."

"It was a real friend who persuaded me to try KruGon for these red capsules have done so much for me," continued Mr. Belt, "This laxative-tonic formula soon gave me proper elimination of those intestinal poisons and then I showed rapid improvement in many different ways. Child Who Learns Work Habit Early Has a Great Advantage

By Olive Roberts Barton

Some children will work only if they are interested in their tasks. Others work if they know they have to. The third class is made up of those rare souls who work regardless of interest or compulsion.

Study your children, parents, and I think you will notice the difference in temperament. No two people are the same when it comes to responsibility.

Then there are other ways to classify the worker. Some children, as well as adults, tackle a job with confidence. Maybe they won't do it very well, again they may. But they are cheerful. Others worry themselves to death lacking assurance, in spite of the fact that they may be almost sure to succeed.

Neurotics in later life are made up largely of the workers who let the slightest responsibility rest heavily.

In psychological parlance it is called "attitude to work." And the truth is that if most people could rearrange their attitude to the daily grind, they would be healthier and happier.

I really do not think that natures can be changed very much after a certain habit of thinking is set. Perhaps they cannot be changed at all, for we know that children having the same home, and the same parents, and largely identical experiences, seldom match as far as dispositions go.

However, this is an encouraging fact: that the younger our children are trained to face small jobs and help with the work, the more naturally they will take to responsibility later on. As they grow older and stronger, their daily responsibilities should be increased accordingly.

Avoid Extremes

By this I do not mean that children should drudge or be deprived of the normal play and activities of each happy day, but merely that they ought to have enough things to do to establish work-habit, work-expectancy and work-acceptance. There is a little difference in the meaning of the three.

The important thing is to train children to look upon all labor as a normal condition—in fact life itself. Labor may mean almost anything under the sun that involves effort of mind or body.

Denies Request For Probation

KANSAS CITY, March 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Frances S. Ryan, superintendent of the Jackson County Parental School and boss of the Tom Pendergast political forces in the twelfth ward, lost Monday afternoon her fight to avoid serving a 3-year sentence for vote fraud conspiracy.

Mrs. Ryan, sentenced to the Federal Women's Industrial Reformatory at Alderson, W. Va., for her part in the Kansas City vote scandals of 1936, had applied for probation. This was denied today by Federal Judge Merrill E. Otis after a hearing lasting an hour and a quarter.

Judge Otis' decision means Mrs. Ryan must surrender on or before 4:30 p. m. Friday to begin serving sentence.

Mrs. Ryan, also under conviction in a second case, has appealed that second conviction to the United States circuit court of appeals. Arguments in that case were set today for March 24.

MEN LOVE GIRLS WITH PEP

If you are peppy and full of fun, men will invite you to dances and parties.

BUT if you are cross, listless and tired, men won't be interested. Men don't like "quiet" girls. When they go to parties they want girls along who are full of pep.

So in case you need a good general system tonic, remember for 3 generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps build up more physical resistance and thus aids in giving you more pep and lessens distress from female functional disorders.

You'll find Pinkham's Compound WELL WORTH TRYING!

Seven Teams Survive The Early Rounds

Seven First Rounds Played Monday With Eight Rounds Today

KANSAS CITY, March 14.—(AP)—Midwestern basketball prevailed in the first day of the fourth annual national intercollegiate tournament and seven more teams from that area seek to move into the second round today.

Already Southwestern of Winfield, Kas., Westminster of Fulton, Mo., Augustana of Rock Island, Ill., Peru, (Neb.) Teachers, Culver-Stockton of Canton, Mo., and Maryville, Mo., Teachers have cleared the first barrier.

They listed among their victims quintets from Mississippi, Louisiana and North Carolina.

Today's bill finds Anderson (Ind.) College, St. Ambrose of Davenport, Iowa, Dakota Wesleyan of Mitchell, S. D., Warrensburg, Mo., Teachers, Columbia College of Dubuque, Ia., Manchester (Ind.) College and Aberdeen, S. D., Teachers on the firing line.

The only teams from outside the midland area to make the grade at the opening session were Glenville (W. Va.) State and the East Texas Teachers.

Peru upset, 55 to 46, a highly regarded High Point (N. C.) College five, winner of both the tri-state conference flag and the Carolinas A. A. U. championship.

Delta State Teachers of Cleveland, Miss., lost to an underdog Westminster 33 to 32, and Louisiana State Normal bowed to Augusta, 49 to 43.

The only "foreign" team to triumph did it with ease. East Texas Teachers demolished Springfield, Mo., Teachers 68 to 45c, and Glenville State trimmed Simpson College of Indianola, Ia., 49 to 34.

In yesterday's other games Culver-Stockton defeated Winona (Minn.) State 53-40; Maryville (Mo.) Teachers trimmed Wayne (Neb). Teachers 35 to 20 and Southwestern eliminated Eau Claire (Wis.) Normal 39-30.

Offer Is Made For Orsatti

HOLLYWOOD, March 14.—(AP)—The Hollywood baseball club announced today it had offered the St. Louis Cardinals $2,500 for Ernie Orsatti, 34-year-old outfielder who voluntarily retired in 1935.

Orsatti, whose family runs a film actors' agency here, quit the game rather than report to Rochester, International League member of the Cardinal chain.

This year he indicated he would like to play baseball in his home town, but Sacramento, the Cardinal farm in the Pacific Coast League, also showed interest in getting him. He said he would play for Hollywood or not at all.

Yesterday he was restored to the minor league active list.

Newsom Still Seeing a Raise

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 14.—(AP)—Buck Newsom, holdout Browns pitcher, and club officials apparently were still no nearer an agreement today over the righthander's salary for the coming season.

The pitcher conferred with vice president and general manager William O. De Witt again last night, but Newsom later left the hotel after indicating no immediate compromise was forthcoming.

Newsom, who was offered a raise after winning 20 games for the Browns last year, declared club officials refused to increase the amount during the conferences the last few days. He has stated he wants $20,000, a $7,500 boost over the salary he is supposed to have received last year.

Delegated For Song On Baseball

WASHINGTON, March 14.—(AP)—Representative Rabaut (D-Mich) said today he is finding it harder to compose a song than to write a law

"You can't force a tune," he explained. "You've just got to sit and wait until it hits you."

He has been commissioned to write a song commemorating the hundredth anniversary of baseball.

Song-writing is nothing new to Rabaut—he's written dozens of them, but this is the first time he has to use baseball as his theme. Heretofore, it's been politics.

Called on one morning at the last Democratic national convention to concoct a tune for that evening, Rabaut whipped up not one but two, and personally presented them over the radio.

Political lyrics, he points out, are easy to rhyme. You can find lots of words, for instance, that rhyme with:

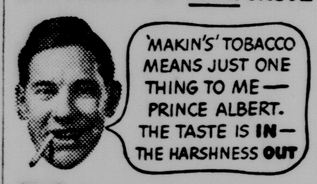

President.
Democratic party.
Jefferson.
Nation.

"But baseball," he said, "that's a little different. You're pretty much confined to the diamond, whereas with politics you can go up and down the scale and cover the world."

CHICAGO, March 14.—(AP)—Falling about ½ cent, wheat prices today touched the lowest levels in more than a month.

Independence Voted By Slovaks; Support By Hitler

Premier Rudolf Beran drew the consequences from this secession and resigned;

The Czech unity party was summoned for a conference to decide what to do next in the thoroughly confused state;

Tiso sent a message to Hitler formally advising him of the independence declaration and asking his support for the new state —as an advocate of self-determination;

Hungarians penetrated a reported 19 miles into Carpatho-Ukraine, easternmost section of Czecho-Slovakia.

While Czecho-Slovakia was convulsed with her internal crisis, German troops began to march toward her borders—ready to enforce Hitler's will by arms.

Jews in Bohemia and Moravia —the section of Czecho-Slovakia under domination of Prague— were asking whether they had better get out in a hurry.

Quarters close to the Czech government said Hitler had asked four things from Prague:

1. That no obstruction to Slovak independence be made;
2. That Bohemia and Moravia form a customs and monetary union with Germany;
3. Complete disarmament of Czech-Slovak military forces;
4. Introduction of Germany's Nuernberg anti-Jewish laws.

Rumors spread that Germany intended to occupy several Czech key cities regardless of how the Slovak parliament voted today on the question of secession from the Czech-Slovak republic.

Ultimatum Issued

BUDAPEST, March 14.—(AP)—Hungary today sent an untimatum to the Prague government demanding the evacuotion of Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia) by all Czech troops.

The ultimatum demanded the evacuation of the troops within 24 hours.

The action followed quickly a report by the official Hungarian news agency that fighting occurred at several points on the Hungarian - Carpatho - Ukraine frontier between Hungarian and Czecho-Slovak forces.

The ultimatum was handed to the Czech minister in Budapest and demanded:

1. The immediate release of all Hungarian prisoners in Carpatho-Ukraine, the easternmost part of Czecho-Slovakia.
2. An immediate end to the "persecution" of Hungarians.
3. Weapons are to be given immediately to Hungarian "self-defense" formations in Carpatho-Ukraine.

As the ultimatum was delivered Hungarian troop reinforcements, including 60,000 reservists, were speeding toward the Carpatho-Ukraine frontier.

Hungarian troops were officially acknowledged to have entered Carpatho-Ukraine and reliable sources said they had penetrated a distance of about 19 miles into Ruthenian territory this afternoon.

While the start of the evacuation was demanded within 24 hours, the ultimatum gave the Prague government 12 hours to fulfill the other conditions.

Captured Detachment

Hungarian detachments were said by the Hungarian news agency to have taken Podhering, south of Munkacs, and captured a Czech detachment, which it blamed for starting the fighting between Hungarian and Czech troops. Early today, the agency said, Czech border forces began unexpectedly to fire across the frontier near Munkacs. Afterward Hungarian soldiers returned the fire, the agency dispatches said, and then crossed the frontier.

Behind the expected emergence of Slovakia as a virtual German puppet state, Hungary today saw the shadow of the Nazi giant growing darker over her own land.

The creation of a new Slovakia as the latest move in Reichsfuehrer Hitler's push to bring all central and eastern Europe under control was foreseen frankly by Hungarian leaders.

"Hungary may well be next," they said.

A Nazi-supported Slovakia was seen as ending the cherished Polish-Hungarian dream of a common frontier where now lies Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia), easternmost part of Czecho-Slovakia.

Hungarian leaders said Hitler now has complete control of "what was once the Czecho-Slovak republic"—a corridor to the geographical Ukraine constituted by parts of Poland, Soviet Russia, Rumania and Carpatho-Ukraine.

The Ukraine is an area which Hitler hopes some day to "liberate."

Census Inquirers To Pry Into Personal Affairs

its income and living vary from region to region? How long have those without jobs been out of work? How are the houses fixed for baths? How many persons live in a room?

Out of the answers to these questions, the economists will piece together analyses that will help to guide not only government but industry, labor and agriculture.

More than ordinary interest is attached to the population shifts of the last ten years. Droughts and poverty have driven many persons away from old homes. Wide areas of farm lands have been abandoned because of dry weather and high winds. Thousands have left cities where there were no jobs in order to try anew on farms.

Surprises may lurk in the population figures which may trouble those who are worried over future national defense. The rate of population increase is getting very low. It amounts now to only a third of one per cent a year. The new census may show it to be almost static.

One million fewer children are in schools now than in 1930. There are just about as many of military age now as there were then, but that military age group will decrease when the school age group gets older. Statisticians now find a larger percentage of the nation's population in upper age groups than in the lower.

Immigration has dropped so sharply that several of the old questions asked foreign born residents will be omitted.

W. T. Kidwell Of Versailles Dies

William T. Kidwell, a rural mail carrier of Versailles, died at his home at 3 o'clock Sunday morning.

According to his wish he will be buried at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon, Wednesday at Versailles, his co-workers in the post office to serve as pallbearers.

Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will furnish a firing squad and the American Legion members will assist in the burial.

The deceased was a world war veteran, a member of the Machine Gun Battalion of the Fifth Division, and a member of Walter Elkins Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, in Sedalia.

He served in the regular army from April 16, 1915 to April 16, 1920, and was a corporal in the Company B Machine Gun Battalion of the Fifth Division. He had been decorated with the Purple Heart and the medal of bravery in action.

He leaves his widow, four children: William T. Jr., 14, Mary 11, Betty Ann 7, and Dwaine 4; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Kidwell, Versailles; four brothers, Albert, Samuel, Clyde and Robert Kidwell of Versailles, and one sister, Mrs. Frank Munson, Lock Springs, Mo.

S-C Caps And Gowns Be Grey

Smith - Cotton's graduates will "stick" to the conventional grey in caps and gowns this year rather than adopting the latest in brilliant colors that some high schools in the United States are adopting beginning this year. University and college graduates this year will also remain by either the black or grey caps and gowns for graduation.

Measurements are now being taken by Waldman's Men Furnishings store and will be of genuine Palm Beach cloth, a summer fabric which will add to the comfort and coolness of the garments during the exercises.

The outfits will be delived to the class in time for the first use, on Sunday, May 14, the date set for baccalaureate exercises.

Message By President On Relief

declared, however, that the government was faced at the moment with a condition not an abstraction.

He also said there had been allegations that he would be satisfied if no further appropriation were made for the coming three months.

"I feel that in justice to myself," the president said, "I must make it clear that I am not sending this message to the congress merely for the purpose of going through motions.

"For more than six years it has been the definite policy of the president and congress that needy persons, out of work, should not be allowed to satrve; and it was an obligation of the federal government to give work to those able to work and an obligation of state and local government and of private charities to take care of those needy persons who are unable to work.

"That policy, I am more than ever confident, is right. It should not be abandoned now.'

Three Million On WPA

The president said approximately 3,000,000 persons were now on work relief and about 850,000 were on the "waiting list."

He predicted a substantial pick-up in employment between now and June because of improved business conditions, but said it was not expected this increase would absorb more than 300,000 on WPA rolls. This would leave 3,5550,000 to be cared for July 1.

The chief executive added that about 30,000 aliens had been removed from the rolls in accordance with recent law and all possible economies in administration and operations were being sought and "will be constantly checked, but here again the cold facts, which have been given insufficient emphasis require restatement.

"Out of every $100 federal funds expended by the WPA," he said, "only $3.50 is for administrative overhead; $10.50 is spent for materials, equipment and supplies; $86 is paid out directly in the form of wages. As a business proposition it occurs to me that some modicum of commendation is in order."

Cut Unless Funds Provided

Without an additional appropriation, the president said the WPA must issue orders within the next week to lop off 400,000 from the rolls and another cut of 600,000 the first week in May. Another cut of 200,000 will have to be made early in June.

Counting dependents, the number affected by the reductions would be 4,000,000 within the next few weeks and nearly 1,000,000 more later on.

"To these," he said, "must be added the 'waiting list' category —because it is obvious that while people now on the rolls are being discharged no people can be employed from the 'waiting list.'

The president said he believed states counties and municipalities were doing in most cases "all that their finances will permit to meet the situation."

"I further believe," he added, "that, with few exceptions, those who employed are actually in need and are not receiving more than they should in the form of federal assistance."

Rank Third In Getting Jobs

Placements made by the Missouri State Employment Service in private employment during the month of February increased nearly 14 per cent over February of last year, Director Will S. Denham has announced.

Of the 3,237 placements, 2,383 were in private employment and 854 went to public jobs. For February of last year, 2,102 were placed in private employment and 621 in public.

The Sedalia district office ranked third in the State, with St. Louis first and Kansas City second for the month of February with a total placements of 177.

Employment conditions are improving in this area according to F. M. Henry, manager of the Sedalia office. Skilled and trained workers are being sought in many businesses. Machinists and mechanics for the aircraft industry should register for employment, as many possibilities are developing. Women are needed in the power sewing machine trades. Farm hands are now in demand with a number of openings available in the local office. Every unemployed person seeking work should file an application with the Employment Service, located at 500½ South Ohio avenue. There is no charge to the employer or employe, as the office is operated by the state and federal governments.

ler had determined to bring about a clarification within 24 hours.

Troop movements on a large scale were not denied by official quarters nor was it denied Hitler was ready to take "strong action."

Questions At Issue

The Wilhelmstrasse spokesman said two questions were at issue:

1.—Autonomy or independence of Slovakia which in turn involves the fate of Carpatho-Ukraine, another autonimous segement within the framework of the Czecho-Slovak Republic.

2.—Security of Germans in Bohemia and Moravia which constitute the Czech part of Czecho-Slovakia. The third major provincial division of the Republic.

"Germany cannot stand to have her 'Lebensraum', or space for living, endangered," the spokesman said. "At present Germans are completely at the mercy of the Czechs in Bohemia and Moravia."

While the fate of Carpatho-Ukraine still seemed uncertain, everything this morning pointed to the following:

1. Military occupation of Bohemia and Moravia. This would logically result in more than temporary occupation. It would lead to annexation of those two districts.

In German propaganada they have already been described as "belonging historically to Germany."

2. Police and, if necessary, military assistance to the new republic of Slovaakia in the event that Czech troops now on duty there should cause trouble or in case the Slovak faction which favors remaining within Czech-Slovakia should start something.

It was denied officially Chancellor Hitler had given the Czech government any ultimatum.

Troop movements have been in progress since Sunday night, and there was little doubt here that Hitler was determined to bring "order" to Czecho-Slovakia—by giving German protection to a new Slovak nation, served from the Prague Republic, and thereby taking another step toward Nazi domination of Eastern Europe.

Reservists of the class of 1913 in Munich were called on short notice yesterday. Several troop trains left Munich for Vienna. A number of automobiles were commandered. In Aussig in the former Sedetenland, 25 miles from the Czech frontier, residents said trains had carried at least 16 carloads of troops toward the border since Sunday.

'Gas' Tax Fight Back To Floor

JEFFERSON CITY, March 14—(AP)—Missouris bitter gasoline tax fight stormed its way back to the legislative floor today.

With house committee recommendation of a three-cent levy, the way was cleared for reopening of a debate which raged all through the 1937 general assembly and the 1938 general election —only to wind up with the voters rejecting every proposed boost in the present two-cent tax.

The bill approved last night called for a 3½ cent tax as originally introduced by Rep. R. E. Searcy— and that was a half cent reduction from the four cents he asked in a bill the same committee killed weeks ago.

But the committee, on a vote unofficially reported as 23 to 8, compromised on three cents to get the issue before the full body of the house. It left intact the measure's proposed reduction of license fees — reductions which Searcy estimated would leave only about $500,000 gain over the present revenue with the one cent gas tax boost.

A bill identical to Searcy's original four-center is still awaiting senate committee action.

The senate, well abreast of its calendar, met only long enough yesterday to take an action which was commonly interpreted as another legislative victory for Gov. Lloyd C. Stark.

Without a word of debate, the senate agreed to demands of the governor's supporters in the house and struck out a joint legislative rule which its opponents declared "could choke off the governor's appropriations."

The rule, also stricken by the house, would have given conference committees free rein in compromising appropriations disputes between the two houses.

Hunger Strike In Jail Ends

CLEVELAND, March 14.—(AP)—A combination hunger and sit-down strike among 625 Warrensville workhouse prisoners was over today. Superintendent John S. Huisman said all was "serene."

Climaxing a day-long strike for improved fare and free tobacco, twenty-three accused ringleaders were removed last night to Cleveland's central police station.

Firemen, flanked by policemen and detectives, trained ready fire hoses on occupants of one dormitory from which the alleged leaders were taken.

Strikers told newsmen they had demanded:

More raisins in their rice pudding; better milk for their cereal; ham and eggs "frequently," and free cigarets in weekly rations.

A crew of prisoner-bakers started the demonstration when they refused to work. Virtually none of the inmates touched his breakfast. Although idle, time whetted the prisoners' appetites and at noon they ate heartily. At supper, however, they spurned their chile con carne, bread and tea.

A search of the dormitory which officers entered yielded razor blades, assorted knives, a file—and one loaf of bread.

In Mixup Over "Wife-Swapping"

RUSSELLVILLE, Ala., March 14.(AP)—Officials said two children, two mules and 80 acres, as well as two women, were involved in a "wife-swapping" deal for which four persons today faced bigamy charges.

Five other children were affected by the martial mixup, and while one couple waited in jail the other was separated by the necessity of caring for all seven offspring.

Sheriff D. C. Nix said a Franklin grand jury would act in May on bigamy accusations against Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Brand, neighbors at nearby Red Bay, Ala.

Nix said Johnson married buxom Mrs. Della Brand and Brand married Mrs. Annie Fay Johnson the same day the women, both "about 32," obtained divorce decrees that did not permit remarriage for 60 days. The men are about 35, the sheriff said.

The four drove together in Johnson's automobile to Fulton, Miss., Nix reported, where the ceremonies were performed February 24.

Police Chief L. A. Jackson of Red Bay said Annie (Johnson) Brand told him she and Brand received 80 acres and two mules from her former husband, Johnson, after the exchange of mates. Johnson and his new wife were to obtain custody of two of the five Brand children.

Johnson and his second wife were in jail, with respective bonds set at $1,500 and $1,000. Brand and his second wife were at liberty under $300 bonds.

Brand was caring for his five children (by the second Mrs. Johnson), Sheriff Nix said, while his new wife was at Johnson's home caring for the two children she bore Johnson.

Buying Boosts Some Stocks

NEW YORK, March 14.—(AP)—Buyers returned to the stock market today and put recovery props under favored steels, motors, rails, coppers, aircrafts and specialties.

While gains running to a point or so were fairly well distributed at the close, there was an assortment of losers and numerous issues were at a standstill.

Dealings were slower than in yesterday's sluggish session until the final hour when volume picked up. Transfers approximated 700,00 shares.

The market apparently took its cue from London, brokers said, where stocks rallied after an early dip. The comeback in the British center was attributed to improved sentiment following the divorce of the Czechs and Slovaks and hopes that the further partition in the Balkans may obviate a Central European explosion.

The better tone in New York stocks also was credited to rumors the Federad Reserve Board was about to announce a reduction in margin requirements. Reserve authorities subsequently denied the rumors.

The President's relief message, asking more funds pending a cut in unemployment coincident with an expected business upturn, was about in line with expectations and was believed to have had little effect on markets.

• The Family Doctor

IDEA THAT MOTHER CAN MARK HER BABY HAS NO SCIENTIFIC BACKING

n recent years all sorts of governmental, philanthropic and private agencies have been endeavoring to educate prospective mothers about childbirth. The mother who does not know may be the subject of all sorts of fears and worries. Here for example is a letter from such a woman:

Dear Doctor: Is it true that you can mark a baby while carrying it? I have a five month-old baby girl that has no hair. Is there anything that I could rub on her scalp to encourage the growth? My mother-in-law says that I marked my litle girl as she keeps nodding her head yes, now and then, like I had the habit of doing before she was born. Is there anything that I can do to break her of this habit?

Of all the persistent notions, not founded on fact, that prevail among people, this one seems the hardest to destroy. All authorities are convinced that there is not the slightest truth in such unfortunate superstitions.

We known with certainty that there is no nervous connection between the mother and the unborn child. Usually these occurrences are just coincidental, often embellished with imaginative details. Not one case suitably investigated has ever stood up.

The mothers of Sparta in ancient Greece were commanded to look only on pictures and statues which showed the strong and beautiful, so that their children would be strong and beautiful. But we know today that it is not possible to affect the child, who is actually the sum of its parents, by any such an activity. The idea most widely prevalent is the one that a shock to the mother will mark the child; yet, during the World War, when many prospective mothers were exposed to unusual horrors, the number of babies born with markings was no greater than in normal times.

As I have frequently explained in these columns, children differ as to the time when hair, teeth, or other appurtenances of the human body appear. An extraordinary delay should demand investigation by the doctor, because there are some constitutional diseases which affect the growth of hair.

As to the nodding, it must be remembered that a five-months-old baby is only just beginning to hold up its head, because the muscles are still weak and untrained. A little fatigue will make the head nod. Furthermore, if the mother has the habit of frequent nodding, baby may imitate her. But there is no need for worry, because children get over so many things just by growing up.

Answers To Today's Lenten Question

Philip, the deacon, vanished from the sight of an Ethiopian whom he had baptized in a body of water.—Acts 8:35-40.

Farmers Start On Field Work

CHICAGO, March 14—(AP)—American farmers are launching field work for 1939 crops with their perennial hope for more profitable harvests slightly dimmed by present market quotations.

The start of the spring-summer-fall productive cycle during which farm income normally increases to an October peak finds prices of major commodities lower than at the beginning of the previous growing season although substantially higher than at the bottom of the 1938 slump.

Greening wheat fields in the southwest and mild weather over most of the agricultural belt have sent millions of farmers into fields for soil preparation work. Their analysis of market conditions and of the government program, including soil conservation and production control features, is expected to determine the size of grain crops.

Prices of important farm commodities averaged approximately 9 per cent lower at Chicago today than a year ago. Corn is 16 per cent lower, wheat 19 per cent off, oats 3 per cent and rye 34 per cent. Hogs are down 20 per cent, butter 27 per cent and eggs 2 per cent. Steers, however, are 29 per cent higher. Compared with the low prices of 1938, all commodities except butter are substantially higher, with gains ranging from 4 to 21 per cent.

Reduced production in wheat is in prospect this year, winter wheat acreage already being well below that sown last season. Hog marketings are expected to be larger than in 1938 while the national goal of corn production is substantially the same.

Society and Clubs

At the Sorosis meeting Monday afternoon at the Heard Memorial clubhouse, James T. Montgomery gave a talk on "Conservation," substituting for the scheduled speaker, Lyman E. Cook, St. Louis attorney, who was to have discussed unusual laws.

One of the purposes of conservation, Mr. Montgomery said, is to bring back the birds that are essential for the good conditions of orchards because these birds destroy the insects that prey on fruit. Since the decrease of birds in orchards intensive spraying has been necessary.

The passing of rail fences, in which woodpeckers bored holes, has deprived at least five species of birds of nesting places, he pointed out.

Bobolinks have almost disappeared from this section, many of them being killed while they were in the south, however, "federal laws prohibiting destruction of migratory birds has put a stop to this devastating procedure," the speaker asserted.

Originally there was an abundance of wild flowers in the prairies, but with increasing use of the soil many of these flowers have been wiped out, nevertheless a number yet can be seen along railroad tracks, because this soil has not been disturbed, Mr. Montgomery observed.

In conclusion he said that "conservation of soil is important to protect the future generations so that there will be soil for them to till."

Following Mr. Montgomery's discussion, Mrs. Marshall Rust, of Pilot Grove, a guest of Miss Nina Harris, gave interesting comments on a lecture she heard recently by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., in St. Louis. He told of some of his experiences as a foreign correspondent in Europe.

Hobbies will be the theme of the program at Sorosis next Monday, with Mrs. A. E. Wright in charge.

Miss Jessie Blair will talk on "Genealogy," Mrs. Arthur Britten on "Stamps," and Mrs. George Bichsel on "Old Furniture.

Charles W. Green, secretary of the Missouri State Fair, and Mrs. Green, who are in Fort Worth, Texas, attending the Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show, were among the honor guests at a dinner for Amon Carter at the Fort Worth club Thursday night. Before the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Green were members of a party of eight who went to Paul Whiteman's apartment for cocktails.

The dinner was given for Mr. Carter, publisher of the Fort Worth Star Telegram, and a painting of him by the noted artist Saymour Stone, New York City was unveiled. Paul Whiteman was toastmaster and guests were members of the club their wives and guests. Whiteman's orchestra played and they gave their "Chesterfield" program.

The Fort Worth Star Telegram, in listing the first four honor guests to arrive at the dinner mentions Matthew S. Sloan, president of the Missouri, Kansas, Texas Railway; S. W. Fordyce, attorney, both of St. Louis; J. Luther Cleveland, New York City, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company and Charles W .Green, of Missouri.

Mrs. Roosevelt was a member of Mr. Carter's party at the show Monday night.

Mr. Green will broadcast over the Star-Telegram station at 10:10 o'clock Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Landis, Sedalia route 5, entertained a number of relatives and friends at dinner Sunday. They were, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. T. Harris, Mrs. Lee Looney, Miss Jewell Miller and Melvin Overstreet, all of Sedalia.

The Helen G. Steele Music club chorus will have a rehearsal at the club house at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. All who can attend are asked to do so.

Sermon Given On 'Personality'

(By Church Reporter)

Dr. J. F. Odom, leader in the revival meeting held in the First Methodist church, used as the theme of his message Monday night, "Developing a Christian Personality." He used a commitment card and read and referred to suggestions given in connection with such development. There were two main points made by the speaker: First, "To strive toward a Christian personality" and the other was "To enlist in the Kingdom Fellowship for the building of a New World."

In his message he especially mentioned elements which hindered such a development and those elements which helped in such desires. Impurity, idolatry, quarrels, jealousy, temper friction, envy were among the elements which hindered and love, joy, peace, good temper, kindness and gentleness and self-control were among those that developed the kind of personality that would put strength into the life of men and the world. This evening the members of the Ladies Aid society are to be the special guests and members will be seated in the main body of the church.

Wednesday night the members of the Woman's Home Missionary society are to be special guests. The meetings open each evening at 7:30.

Walking Mountain Keeps Walking Merrily Along

GILROY, Calif., March 14—(AP)—Gilroy's moving mountain slithered to within 200 days travel of the main coastal highway Monday, creeping over three yards of the barren countryside in 18 hours.

Trees, boulders and even small hills were torn up by the slow march of the moving mass of earth, a quarter mile wide and 100 feet high.

A forecast of dry weather and intervening flat lands and a ravine offered hope that the "walking mountain" would be stopped before it covers the remaining half mile to the highway.

Heavy rains would speed the slide's movement by acting as stimulant to the clay base which serves as the mountain's legs. Heavy rains last week "greased" the clay and the hillside was started on its march down the "dead hills" from above the San Andreas earthquake fault.

It covered a mile and three quarters in six days but slowed down to an almost imperceptible advance over the weekend.
